We remain liable for the acts and omissions of those delegates.

We can also appoint administration managers, investment managers and other experts.

We are also responsible for the management of UniSaver's investments and each investment option.

Board of directors

The board of directors consists of a minimum of five directors, at least one of whom is an independent licensed trustee.

There must always be:

- two directors appointed at the direction of the participating employers
- two directors appointed as a result of an election by the members of UniSaver

For more information on our powers, duties and responsibilities, refer to the trust deed available at www.unisaver.co.nz.

Licensed independent trustee

As a restricted scheme under the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 (FMCA), at least one of our directors must be a licensed independent trustee. Licences are granted by the Financial Markets Authority (FMA) and are subject to conditions, including regular reporting to the FMA.

Sarah Louise Graydon is the licensed independent trustee director for UniSaver.

UniSaver's solicitor is Dentons Kensington Swan.

Powers under the trust deed to change the terms of UniSaver

Change of trustee

We will cease to hold the office of trustee of UniSaver if:

- we are removed from the office by the participating employers by notice in writing
- we are substituted by the High Court under section 209 of the FMCA
- we retire by notice in writing to the participating employers
- an order is made or an effective resolution is made for the trustee's winding up or we are placed in liquidation or receivership
- in the case of the licensed independent trustee, their licence expires or is cancelled or they are removed by the FMA under the FMCA or they resign or the other directors of the trustee determine that they cannot perform the duties of a licensed independent trustee for any reason.

The FMA may appoint a temporary replacement manager in accordance with the FMCA.

Please refer to the trust deed for more information.

Changes to the trust deed

We may amend or replace all or any part of the provisions of the trust deed with the consent of the participating employers and the FMA. A copy of the current trust deed is available on UniSaver's register entry at www.disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz.

Changes to investment options and statement of investment policy and objectives (SIPO)

We may make changes to the SIPO from time to time. Material changes to the SIPO will be described in UniSaver's annual report. A copy of the current SIPO is available on the register entry for UniSaver at www.disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz.

We offer a choice of investment options, and you can choose to invest in one or a combination of two or more investment options. However, you cannot mix and match between UniSteps and the other investment options. The investment options offered may change at any time. We can close, suspend or disestablish an investment option other than Balanced by giving notice in writing to members who have chosen that investment option. Any contributions made to the closed, suspended or disestablished investment option and any amounts held in that pool for a member will be paid into Balanced unless and until the member makes a new investment option election. We can also change UniSaver's default investment options from time to time.

For information about the material contracts for UniSaver, please see UniSaver's register entry at www.disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz.

SECTION 2

Membership and contributions

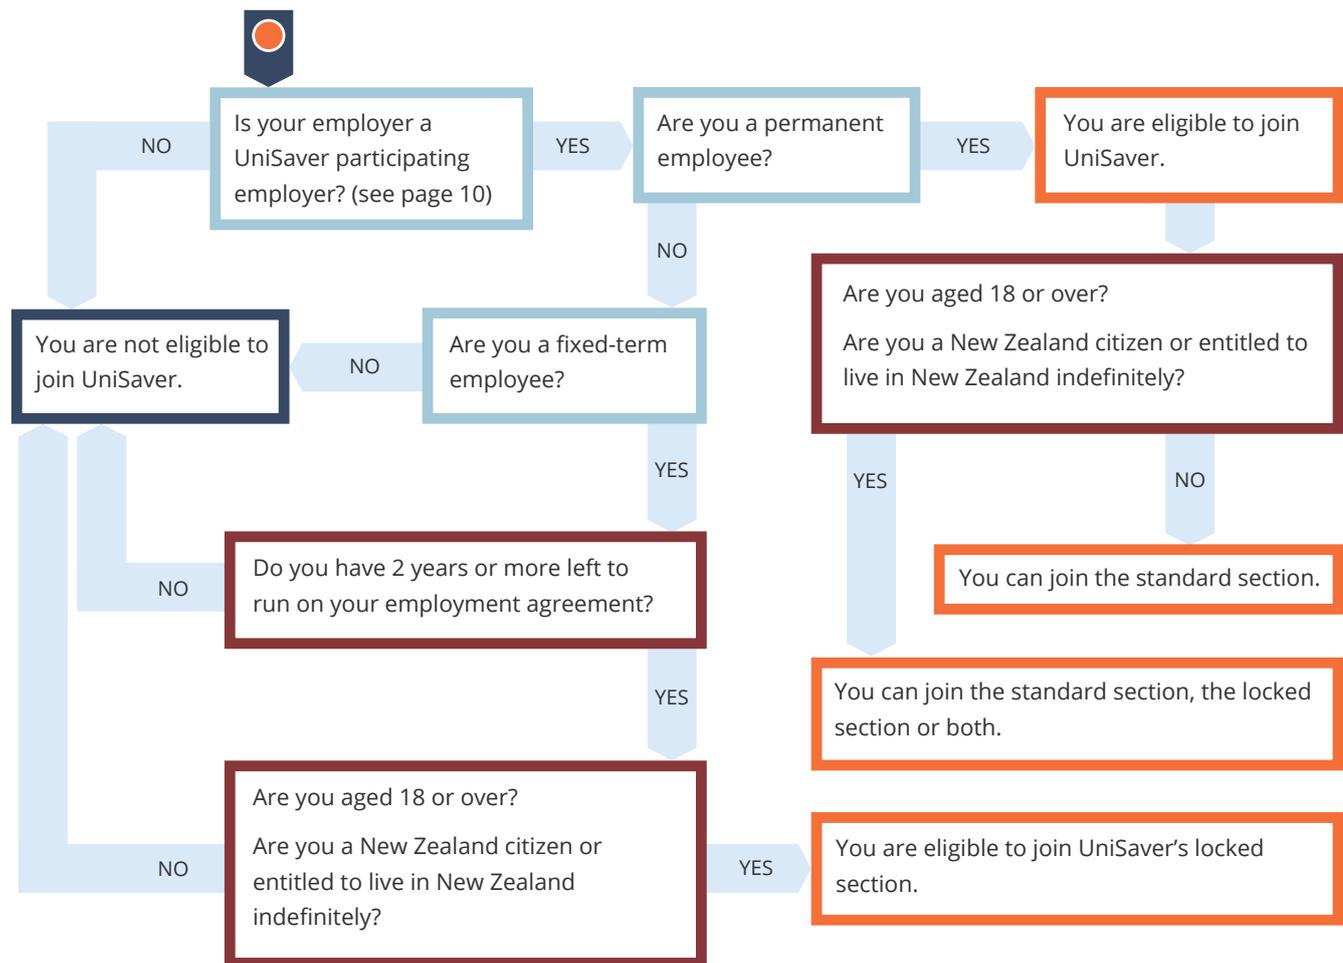

This section provides additional information about joining and contributing to UniSaver.

Membership

Eligibility

You can join UniSaver if you are a permanent employee of an employer that participates in UniSaver. You may also join if you are a fixed-term employee of a participating employer with 2 or more years remaining on your employment term. Fixed-term employees can only become members of UniSaver's locked section. A list of participating employers is set out on page 10 of this document.

To join, complete and return the Membership application at the back of the PDS.

Locked section

Your employer may, with our consent, invite you to become a locked member if you are aged 18 or over and a New Zealand citizen or entitled to live in New Zealand indefinitely. Membership of the locked section entitles you to government contributions of up to $521.43 a year (provided you meet the qualifying criteria) in exchange for having part or all of your member and employer contributions diverted to locked accounts in UniSaver. Those locked accounts are subject to special rules set out in the complying fund rules and the trust deed. Your access to your locked accounts is limited, and the contributions that must be paid into them will be as set out in the PDS, this document, the trust deed and the relevant governing legislation.

Membership categories

Use this diagram to work out your membership category. Your contributions and your employer contributions to UniSaver depend on your membership category.

Cessation of membership

You cannot cease your membership of UniSaver while you remain in service. Membership ceases on the date you cease to be an employee or, if you elect to become a retained member on leaving service, when you cease to be entitled to any further benefits from UniSaver.

Contributions

The amount you contribute depends on your membership type. The contribution arrangements set out in this section apply only to members joining on or after the date of this document. Different arrangements may apply to some existing members. Details are available from the administration manager on 0800 864 724.

Member and employer contributions

UniSaver is split into two sections – the standard section and the locked section, which works much like KiwiSaver.

To join the locked section, you need to be:

- aged 18 or over
- a New Zealand citizen or entitled to live in New Zealand indefinitely.

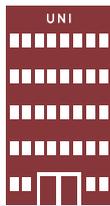

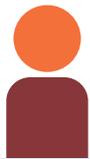

Permanent employees

You can choose to contribute to the standard section and/or the locked section (as long as you meet the criteria above).

Fixed-term employees

You are only eligible to join the locked section.

How it works

When you join UniSaver, accounts are set up in your name

Standard section

Member standard account	Employer standard account
Your contributions	Your employer contributions

Contributions to this section don't qualify for government contributions.

Locked section

Member locked account	Employer locked account
Your contributions (and any government contributions)	Any contributions your employer makes

Contributions to this section may qualify for government contributions up to $521.43 a year.

You generally won't be able to access your savings in this section until you qualify for New Zealand Superannuation (currently age 65).

You decide what percentage of your salary you would like to regularly contribute.

Permanent employees

Category A member

- You can contribute any multiple of 0.5% of your salary with a minimum of 3%. There is no upper limit.
- Your minimum contributions may increase to 4% of your salary if your employer is not contributing at least 1% of your salary. This could occur if your employer is already contributing to a KiwiSaver scheme for you.
- Your employer will contribute 1.35 times your contributions up to a maximum of 6.75%. You need to contribute 5% of your salary to gain the maximum employer subsidy.
- If you choose to join the locked section also:
 - you must direct at least 3% of your salary to your member locked account (in multiples of 0.5%), with the balance (if any) paid to your member standard account
 - your employer will match your regular contributions to the locked section, with the balance paid to your employer standard account.
- You can choose to join the locked section only. If you do, all your contributions and your employer contributions will be paid to your locked accounts.

Category B member

- You can contribute any multiple of 0.5% of your salary with a minimum of 4%. There is no upper limit.
- Your employer won't contribute to your savings unless you join the locked section.
- If you choose to join the locked section also:
 - you must direct at least 3% of your salary to your member locked account (in multiples of 0.5%), with the balance (if any) paid to your member standard account
 - your employer is required to contribute 3% to your employer locked account unless it is already contributing to a KiwiSaver scheme for you
 - your minimum contributions decrease to 3% if your employer is making compulsory contributions of 3% to your employer locked account.
- You can choose to join the locked section only. If you do, all your contributions and your employer contributions will be paid to your locked accounts.

The employer contribution entitlements outlined in this section may reduce if your employer is contributing or required to contribute to a KiwiSaver scheme for you.

Different employer contribution rates can be agreed between you and your employer.

Fixed-term employees

Category A member

- You can contribute any multiple of 0.5% of your salary with a minimum of 3%. There is no upper limit.
- Your minimum contributions may increase to 4% of your salary if your employer is not contributing at least 1% of your salary. This could occur if your employer is already contributing to a KiwiSaver scheme for you.
- Your employer will contribute 1.35 times your contributions up to a maximum of 6.75%. That means you need to contribute 5% of your salary to gain the maximum employer subsidy.
- All your contributions will be paid to your member locked account.
- All employer contributions will be paid to your employer locked account.

Category B member

- You can contribute any multiple of 0.5% of your salary with a minimum of 4%. There is no upper limit.
- All your contributions will be paid to your member locked account.
- Your employer is required to contribute 3% of your salary to your employer locked account unless it is already contributing to a KiwiSaver scheme for you.
- Your minimum contributions decrease to 3% if your employer is making compulsory contributions of 3% to your employer locked account.

Member contributions are calculated on your before-tax salary but deducted from your after-tax income. Member contributions are deducted from your pay after tax.

Contribution tax is deducted from employer contributions before they are credited to your account.

'Salary' is the remuneration paid to you by your employer but excludes overtime, bonuses, penal payments and other allowances. The rates shown here are a percentage of your before-tax salary. Employer contributions are subject to employer superannuation contribution tax (ESCT) at a rate based on your total taxable income plus employer contributions. See section 6 'Tax' for details.

Your contribution is deducted from your salary as it becomes due and payable.

UniSaver uses daily unit pricing

All contributions (including transferred amounts) are divided into units when paid into your UniSaver accounts and are invested in your chosen investment option or options. A unit represents a share in each investment option you are invested in, so you have an interest in your share of the assets held in those investment options. Your units don't give you legal ownership of the assets but do give you the right to returns from them.

UniSaver uses daily unit pricing. This means that, at the end of each trading day, we declare a unit price for each investment option, just like a share price. The unit price is based on the net value of all the investments held under that investment option, which takes into account fees and taxes deducted in respect of that option. This means that the value of your units will change based on investment gains or losses and deductions attributable to your investment option or options.

When your contributions are paid into UniSaver, you effectively buy additional units in each of your chosen investment options based on that day's unit price. Similarly, when money is deducted from your accounts (for example, to pay benefits, to pay fees or expenses deducted directly from your accounts or to give effect to your decision to switch between investment options), you redeem units based on that day's unit price.

When you log in to your account to view your investment balances online, you see the unit price, number of units and dollar value for your holding in each investment option.

Stopping or suspending contributions

You are required to continue contributing while in service unless one of the following applies or you are on leave of absence:

- You take a savings suspension.
- You are a permanent employee and a category A member and you suspend your contributions to your locked accounts and have contributions paid to your member standard account and employer standard account instead.
- You stop all contributions to UniSaver.
- You have reached the age of eligibility for withdrawal from the locked section (currently 65) or make a life-shortening congenital condition withdrawal from the locked section and you choose to stop your contributions to your locked accounts.

If you stop all contributions, any employer contributions not required to be paid by law will also cease. If you are a category A member and stop all contributions, you will become a non-contributing category B member.

If you take a savings suspension, once your savings suspension finishes, you will be a category B member and will be required to start contributing a minimum of 4% of your salary. If you wish to be readmitted as a category A member, you will need to provide a letter of agreement from your employer. Any savings suspension must be for a period of not less than 3 months or not more than 1 year, although successive savings suspensions may be taken.

Change to contribution rate

Subject to the minimum contribution rates stated above, the trust deed allows you to change your chosen contribution rate in multiples of 0.5% of your salary. As at the date of this document, you may change your contribution rate at any time. However, we do have discretion to limit changes to UniSaver's review date (currently 31 December).

Member voluntary contributions

You can only make voluntary contributions through payroll from your salary, which means that, in most cases, you cannot make voluntary contributions from a personal bank account to UniSaver. We can only accept voluntary contributions from non-payroll sources if you are:

- a locked member and want to top up your savings to the extent necessary to maximise government contributions payable by the Crown or
- on a leave of absence (see page 10 for more information).

You can make regular voluntary contributions through payroll from your salary, and there is no upper limit.

Transfers into UniSaver

With our approval, you may transfer a benefit from any other superannuation scheme into UniSaver. However, the payment must be made by your old scheme. You cannot withdraw the funds and then deposit them with UniSaver. Having regard to any conditions imposed by the trustees of the other scheme, these amounts will be credited to your member standard account and employer standard account respectively. Any amounts transferred into UniSaver from locked accounts in another complying superannuation fund will be credited to your member locked account and employer locked account as determined by us or as required under the complying fund rules. We also have the discretion to determine the allocation of transferred amounts to the reserve fund in UniSaver.

A transfer of funds from an overseas superannuation scheme will be subject to any conditions necessary to ensure we meet our obligations under the Anti-Money Laundering and Countering Financing of Terrorism Act 2009 or any other applicable law.

With your consent and the consent of your employer and subject to compliance with the relevant legislation, where you make a transfer, we may impose whatever conditions with respect to your participation in UniSaver as we consider just and equitable.

Government contributions

If you are contributing to your member locked account, you may qualify to receive government contributions. These are calculated in accordance with a statutory formula based on your contributions to your locked accounts for the KiwiSaver year (1 July to 30 June) at the rate of 50 cents for every dollar you contribute up to a maximum of $521.43 (approximately $10 per week).

The main requirement to qualify for government contributions is that you are aged 18 or over and less than the age of eligibility for withdrawal from the locked section (see section 3 'Withdrawals' for details). You must also be a New Zealand citizen or entitled to live in New Zealand indefinitely. If you qualify, your government contributions will be paid to your member locked account and allocated pro rata in accordance with your current investment option(s) choice.

If you are a locked member and also a member of a KiwiSaver scheme or other complying superannuation fund, government contributions will be allocated to your KiwiSaver scheme or complying superannuation fund in accordance with legislation.

As the rules for payment of the government contributions are prescribed by law (rather than by the trust deed), the rules relating to government contributions and their continued payment are subject to any changes to those laws.

Depending on your salary, your contribution to your member locked account may not be sufficient to enable you to obtain the benefit of the full government contribution. In that case, before the end of the relevant year (30 June), you can apply to make an additional voluntary contribution into that account to enable you to obtain the benefit of the full government contribution.

Leave of absence

You are not required to contribute to UniSaver while you are on leave of absence. If you elect not to contribute while you are on leave of absence, you should apply for a savings suspension. Any voluntary contributions you make while on leave of absence must not exceed (as to either amount or frequency) the member contributions you were paying immediately before starting your leave of absence, and voluntary contributions must be collected by your employer or the administration manager.

You may only make lump-sum contributions to your member locked account to the extent necessary to qualify for maximum government contributions. Your employer is not required to contribute during any period of leave of absence (except where it is required to make compulsory employer contributions under the KiwiSaver Act).

To apply for a leave of absence or a savings suspension or to stop, resume, suspend or divert your contributions to or from your locked accounts, complete a Change of member details form available at www.unisaver.co.nz or call 0800 864 724.

SECTION 3

Withdrawals

This section provides additional information about making withdrawals from UniSaver.

This section sets out when and how you can cash in some or all of your investment in UniSaver, including circumstances when you can make an early withdrawal from UniSaver.

The government may, in future, amend legislation relating to workplace savings schemes or superannuation schemes, which may change the amounts and the circumstances in which you are permitted to withdraw from UniSaver.

Withdrawals

With the exception of a first-home, significant financial hardship or life-shortening congenital condition withdrawal, your return from UniSaver is a benefit paid when you leave UniSaver. The benefit payable varies depending on your reason for leaving UniSaver.

If you are a locked member, your locked account balances must be paid in accordance with the complying superannuation fund rules.

Standard member benefits

Retirement

Your benefit on retirement is a lump sum equal to the balances of your member standard account and employer standard account (your standard account balances) less any amounts in a locked account that you are not yet eligible to withdraw.

Your retirement benefit is payable if you retire:

- on or after age 60 or
- with your employer's consent, if you leave service on or after age 50 and prior to age 60 or
- at any age as a result of ill health.

Death (while in service)

If you die in service while you are a member or while you are entitled to a retained benefit from UniSaver, your personal representatives will receive a lump sum equal to the balance of your standard accounts (including any amounts in your locked accounts).

Leaving service

If you leave service for any reason other than retirement, ill health or death, you are entitled to receive the balance of your standard accounts (excluding any amounts in your locked accounts) to the date you leave service.

In some circumstances, you may be able to transfer the balance of your standard accounts to another retirement scheme instead of receiving the benefit on leaving service (see 'Transfers' below).

First-home withdrawal

You may, subject to our consent, make a withdrawal from UniSaver to purchase a first home in New Zealand if:

- you have not made a withdrawal for the purchase of a first home before (whether or not from UniSaver, a KiwiSaver scheme or another complying superannuation fund)
- at least 3 years have passed since we received your first contribution (or contribution made on your behalf) or you have been a member of one or more KiwiSaver schemes or complying superannuation fund schemes for at least 3 years
- you have not owned property or a dwelling house on Māori land before (with a few exceptions).

You may make a withdrawal to purchase a subsequent home as a previous homeowner if Kāinga Ora – Homes and Communities (or the trustee if you are a member of the standard section only) is satisfied that your financial position in terms of income, assets and liabilities is what would be expected of a person who has never owned a home. For more information, visit www.kaingaora.govt.nz.

The amount that may be withdrawn must not exceed the balance of:

- your member standard account and employer standard account (excluding locked balances) and
- your member locked account and employer locked account less any amounts prescribed by the KiwiSaver Act from time to time in respect of the first-home withdrawal benefit available under that Act.

A withdrawal fee of $219.02* will be charged if your application is successful. This fee will be adjusted by the annual increase (if any, measured at the end of September in the prior year) in national full-time adult average weekly ordinary-time earnings (or any replacement statistic).

We may change the terms of this benefit in the future if we believe it is necessary to ensure the benefit is consistent with the first-home withdrawal benefit available under the KiwiSaver Act and that UniSaver continues to meet the complying superannuation fund rules.

Significant financial hardship

You may make a significant financial hardship withdrawal if we are reasonably satisfied that you are suffering or are likely to suffer from significant financial hardship as defined in the KiwiSaver Act. We must also be reasonably satisfied that alternative sources of funding have been explored and have been exhausted. You will be required to provide documentation supporting your significant financial hardship application.

The amount that may be withdrawn must not exceed the balance of:

- your standard accounts balance (excluding any amounts in locked accounts) plus
- your locked accounts balance, less the amount of any government contributions (disregarding any investment earnings).

A withdrawal fee of $102.61* will be charged if your application is successful.

We may change the terms of this benefit in the future if we believe it is necessary to ensure the benefit is consistent with the significant financial hardship benefit available under the KiwiSaver Act and that UniSaver continues to meet the complying superannuation fund rules.

Life-shortening congenital condition

You may make a life-shortening congenital condition withdrawal if you were born with a condition that is expected to reduce your life expectancy or the life expectancy of persons in general suffering from that condition below New Zealand Superannuation qualification age (currently 65). In accordance with the KiwiSaver Act, you must provide us with medical evidence from a medical practitioner verifying that you suffer from a life-shortening congenital condition and that condition is either:

- a life-shortening congenital condition listed under the government's predetermined list of congenital conditions (listed condition)
- a life-shortening congenital condition not listed under the government's list but is expected to reduce life expectancy below the New Zealand Superannuation qualification age of the member or for persons in general with that condition (non-listed condition).

Listed conditions currently include cerebral palsy, Down syndrome (Down's syndrome), fetal alcohol spectrum disorder and Huntington's disease (Huntington's chorea). Further information about making a life-shortening congenital condition withdrawal and listed and non-listed life-shortening congenital conditions can be found in the Medical withdrawal form.

The amount withdrawn may not exceed your standard accounts balance (excluding any amount in a locked account).

We may change the terms of this benefit in the future if we believe it is necessary to ensure the benefit is consistent with the life-shortening congenital condition benefit available under the KiwiSaver Act and that UniSaver continues to meet the complying superannuation fund rules.

See 'Locked member benefits: Life-shortening congenital condition' below for additional important information about making a life-shortening congenital condition withdrawal from locked accounts.

* Each year with effect from 1 January, Mercer adjusts these fees by the annual increase (if any, measured at the end of September in the prior year) in national full-time adult average weekly ordinary-time earnings (or any replacement statistic).

Locked member benefits

Retirement

If you are a locked member, your locked account balances are not normally payable until the date you would ordinarily qualify for New Zealand Superannuation (currently age 65).

If you joined the locked section or another complying superannuation fund (if you became a member of the locked section as a result of a transfer from a complying superannuation fund) before 1 July 2019 (grandparented member), your locked account balances are not normally payable until the later of the date:

- you would ordinarily qualify for New Zealand Superannuation (currently age 65) or
- on which you will have been a member of a complying superannuation fund and/or a KiwiSaver scheme for 5 years.

A grandparented member can opt out of being a grandparented member by giving us notice. Opting out of being a grandparented member will affect your eligibility for government contributions, as the main requirement to qualify for government contributions is that you are aged less than the age of eligibility for withdrawal from the locked section. Contact the administration manager for further information if you wish to opt out.

Death

Your locked account balances will be paid to your personal representatives if you die.

Serious illness

An earlier withdrawal from your locked accounts may be available if we are reasonably satisfied that you are suffering from a serious illness.

Permanent emigration

If you emigrate permanently from New Zealand, not less than 12 months after you emigrate, you may apply to us to withdraw the balances in your locked accounts (excluding any government contributions, which revert to Inland Revenue, but including any investment earnings on them).

A KiwiSaver scheme member who emigrates permanently to Australia:

- is not permitted to make a cash withdrawal on the permanent emigration basis
- is permitted to transfer their full KiwiSaver savings (including government contributions) to an Australian complying superannuation fund.

Although the withdrawal rules for locked accounts are largely the same as for KiwiSaver, the ability to transfer government contributions on emigration to Australia only applies to KiwiSaver. This means that, if you intend to emigrate to Australia and wish to transfer your locked account balances to an Australian complying superannuation fund, you must first transfer them from UniSaver to a KiwiSaver scheme before emigrating. You will need to think this through carefully. Remember, you cannot join KiwiSaver if you are not living or do not normally live in New Zealand.

You will be required to provide evidence of your permanent emigration.

Contact the administration manager for further details of the information required. If you are considering this option, you should obtain professional advice.

First-home withdrawal

You may be able to make an early withdrawal for your first home. See 'Standard member benefits: First-home withdrawal' above for further information.

Significant financial hardship

You may be able to make an early withdrawal if you are suffering or are likely to suffer from significant financial hardship. See 'Standard member benefits: Significant financial hardship' above for further information.

Life-shortening congenital condition

You may be able to make an early withdrawal if you suffer from a life-shortening congenital condition. See 'Standard member benefits: Life-shortening congenital condition' above for further information about the eligibility requirements.

If you make a life-shortening congenital condition withdrawal from your locked accounts, you'll be treated as if you have reached the age of eligibility for withdrawal from the locked section for the purposes of the complying superannuation fund rules and the KiwiSaver Act. That means you'll no longer be able to receive any government contributions and your employer may be able to stop its contributions to your locked accounts.

Transfers

Between participating employers

If you transfer from one employer that participates in UniSaver to another, you will continue to be a member of UniSaver.

On employment by an overseas university or research facility

You can request a transfer of the balance of your standard accounts less any amount in a locked account to a superannuation scheme to which the overseas university or research facility contributes instead of being paid your leaving service benefit, if the trustee of that scheme consents.

To another registered superannuation scheme or KiwiSaver scheme

If you cease to be a member of UniSaver, at your written request and with our consent and that of the trustee of the scheme you wish to transfer to, we will pay your benefit to that other scheme. Any balance in your locked accounts can only be transferred to another complying superannuation fund or KiwiSaver scheme.

You can apply to have your locked account balances transferred to another KiwiSaver scheme or complying superannuation fund.

If you do not request a transfer and cease to be eligible for membership in UniSaver, your locked account balances will be transferred to one of the default KiwiSaver schemes.

Wind-up of UniSaver

If UniSaver is wound up in full or if that part of UniSaver that relates to you is wound up, your share of UniSaver's assets may, with your consent, be transferred to another superannuation scheme subject to any amounts in your locked accounts being subject to the complying fund rules.

Retained membership

If you retire, leave service or are made redundant, with our consent and the consent of your employer, you may elect to leave all or part of your benefit in UniSaver and become a retained member. Any amount not withdrawn from your employer standard account will be transferred to your member standard account.

Unless we agree otherwise, you must return your completed Leaving service form indicating your intention to become a retained member within 5 days of leaving service.

The following rules apply to all retained members:

- The restrictions on withdrawals from your locked accounts set out above will continue to apply.
- The minimum balance you may leave in UniSaver (which we may change from time to time) is currently:
 - nil for any locked member who has not reached the age of eligibility for a retirement withdrawal from the locked section and any locked member who is permanently emigrating and wants to withdraw their locked account balances
 - $5,000 for all other retained members.
- No payments will be allocated to your account from the reserve fund.
- You are not required to contribute to UniSaver, and no employer contributions will be made.
- If you die while you are a retained member, the balance in your member standard account will be paid to your personal representatives.
- You may request payment of the balance in your member standard account (excluding any balance in your locked accounts you are not entitled to at that time) by giving us 28 days' written notice. Any balances in your locked accounts must be transferred to another complying superannuation fund or KiwiSaver scheme nominated by you.
- As at the date of this document, you may make one partial withdrawal in any quarterly period (calculated from 1 January each year). This may change in future. You may also set up a regular monthly withdrawal facility from your retained benefits. A one-off establishment fee of $88.77 will apply.*
- After you have made a partial withdrawal, the minimum balance in your member standard account must be:
 - nil for any locked member who has not reached the age of eligibility for a retirement withdrawal from the locked section and any locked member who is permanently emigrating and wants to withdraw their locked account balances
 - $5,000 for all other retained members.

If your member standard account balance falls below this minimum after you make a withdrawal, your total credit must be withdrawn, and you will cease to be a retained member. Any locked account balances you are not entitled to withdraw must be transferred to another complying superannuation fund or KiwiSaver scheme nominated by you.

- We may resolve that you are no longer eligible to be a retained member, in which case, we can terminate your retained membership by giving you 21 days' written notice. Your benefit (excluding any locked account balances you are not entitled to at that time) will be paid as soon as practicable after the notice period has expired. Any locked account balance must be transferred to another complying superannuation fund or KiwiSaver scheme.
- The following fees in relation to your retained membership may be deducted from your benefit or your member standard account:
 - Any expenses incurred in relation to you or your benefit.
 - A fair and reasonable proportion of the general expenses of UniSaver.
 - A monthly administration fee of $4.36.
 - A withdrawal fee of $39.66 (as at the date of this document) in respect of the second and any subsequent withdrawal you make in any calendar year.
 - Fees relating to the regular withdrawal facility ($88.77 establishment fee set out above).*

To confirm any current arrangements (including fees and minimum contributions for retained members) and for further details, contact the administration manager on 0800 864 724.

* Each year with effect from 1 January, Mercer adjusts these fees by the annual increase (if any, measured at the end of September in the prior year) in national full-time adult average weekly ordinary-time earnings (or any replacement statistic).

SECTION 4

Risks

This section provides additional information about the risks associated with investing and how risks affect your investment in UniSaver that are not set out in the PDS.

All investments involve some degree of risk that can affect members' ability to recover the full amount of their investment or impact on the level of return.

Because of the risks associated with an investment in UniSaver, it is reasonably foreseeable that you may receive a lower return than expected. It is possible you may lose some or all of the value of your investment. No person guarantees the payment of any money payable from UniSaver, including the repayment of any investment in UniSaver or the payment of any return on it.

Investment risk

Returns and risks can vary depending on the type of asset invested in. As set out in the PDS, one of the principal risks associated with any investment in UniSaver is investment risk.

Investment risk is the risk that the returns from UniSaver's investments will be negative or lower than expected, affecting the value of your investment in UniSaver.

Investments are often divided into four major investment classes – cash, fixed-interest investments, shares and alternative asset investments – which have different levels of risk. There is generally a risk/return trade-off. What this means is that Growth and Balanced, which invest more heavily in higher-risk investments such as shares, are expected to provide a higher longer-term return to compensate for the additional risk of a negative return in the shorter term. On the other hand, Conservative and Cash, which invest more heavily in lower-risk investments such as cash, are expected to generate a lower return on average over time.

Investments are generally affected by movements in market demand and supply, economic conditions, market sentiment, political events, natural disasters and consumer demand. Climate change is also a material investment issue. In addition, where investments are made outside New Zealand, currency movements can affect performance.

Each investment class has specific investment risks that relate to that particular class, as explained below.

Cash

Cash is ideal for short-term requirements, but inflation erodes its value. In addition, where cash assets are placed on bank deposit or in short-term securities, there is a small risk of the bank or other counterparty defaulting, meaning that some or all of the investment may be lost.

Fixed-interest investments

The value of fixed-interest investments is affected by changes in interest rates, and there is a risk that the issuer will not make the required interest payments, fails to repay the investment on maturity or both. This risk is higher for high-yield investments.

Shares

Shares offer the possibility of greater returns and tend to be more accessible and liquid than many other securities. However, the risk factor with equity investments is relatively high, as the value can be volatile (go up and down) and is very much dependent on the performance of the company that issued them and market sentiment as well as equity market conditions generally. There are also extra costs due to brokerage services. Within shares, there are different sub-classes, such as listed property or listed infrastructure.

Alternative asset investments

Alternative asset investments are those that fall outside of the traditional asset classes of shares, fixed-interest investments and cash. Examples include hedge funds and commodities. These investments generally do not follow typical market cycles and, as such, can provide alternative sources of growth when markets are underperforming. However, due to the non-traditional nature of these investments, exposure can generally only be obtained indirectly by investment into other managed funds. A lack of liquidity is therefore a risk for alternative asset investments, and there can also be underlying valuation issues given the non-traditional nature of the assets involved. As at the date of this document, UniSaver does not provide exposure to alternative assets.

Counterparty risk and risks relating to the performance of the parties involved in UniSaver

Counterparty risk is the risk that a party to a contract with UniSaver defaults, fails to complete a transaction or otherwise becomes unable to meet its financial obligations. If this occurs, the full value of your investment may not be recovered.

In addition, various parties are involved in the operation of UniSaver, including the trustee, administration manager, investment consultant and investment manager. Decisions made by investment or fund managers, in particular, are based on a range of variables that are, by their nature, prospective (and therefore there is a risk that such decisions will not always result in positive returns to members). If any of these parties fail to properly perform their obligations to UniSaver, the value of your investment in UniSaver may be affected.

Tax and regulatory risk

There is a risk that changes in tax and other legislation (including tax rates), often due to a change in government policy, may impact on a member's investment in UniSaver. Such changes could affect the operation of the scheme or member benefits or result in the trust deed being amended in a manner permitted by law that has the effect of reducing benefits. Any future changes in the complying fund rules may also affect locked members.

Generally, fees in respect of the management of the investment funds in which the scheme invests are currently subject to GST at 1.5% on the basis that 10% of the fee is subject to GST at the standard rate of 15%. This includes fees paid to overseas investment managers where the scheme (as opposed to the overseas investment fund) receives the service and the scheme therefore needs to calculate and pay GST to New Zealand Inland Revenue on a reverse charge basis or where the overseas investment manager is required to register for and charge New Zealand GST. Inland Revenue is presently going through a consultation process in relation to the proportion of GST payable on investment management fees, and the proportion may change in future. This could also affect other fees charged to the scheme for the management of the scheme.

Other risks

An investment in UniSaver is subject to other risks that may impact your returns, including the following.

Scheme liquidity risk

The risk associated with an inability on the part of UniSaver to meet monetary obligations in a timely manner, which arises where there is a mismatch between the maturity profile of investments and the amounts required to pay benefits (although UniSaver's investments are managed with a view to ensuring UniSaver's cashflow requirements are met). See UniSaver's liquidity policy on the offer register at www.disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz.

Operational risk

The risk of technological or other failures impacting on the operation of UniSaver or financial markets in general.

Insolvency risk

The risk of UniSaver becoming insolvent and being placed into receivership, liquidation or statutory management or being otherwise unable to meet its financial obligations during the term of your investment in it.

Forfeiture risk

The risk of a benefit being forfeited by a member who becomes bankrupt or unable to manage their affairs.

Other

The risk of UniSaver being wound up or changes to the way UniSaver operates being made while you invest in it.

SECTION 5

Additional information about fees

Annual fund charges

The total annual fund charges for the investment options are described in the UniSaver PDS. The total annual fund charge is made up of:

- various management and administration fees
- costs and expenses.

These are described further below.

Licensed independent trustee fee and chair fee

As the trustee of UniSaver, other than the licensed independent trustee and the chair of the board of directors, we are not currently remunerated out of UniSaver or by the participating employers for our services as trustee. However, with the agreement of the participating employers, we or the other directors individually could be remunerated in future. The rate of any such remuneration could be altered with the agreement of the participating employers.

The licensed independent trustee and the chair of the board are entitled to be paid an annual fee for their services. These fees are approved by the other four directors and are met from UniSaver. The rate or basis of calculating this fee may change from time to time.

Our directors may also be indemnified and reimbursed out of UniSaver for any costs and expenses they incur in the administration of UniSaver, for example, travel expenses incurred in attending board meetings or attending to UniSaver's business.

Administration manager fees

The administration manager Mercer charges monthly fees for providing administration services to UniSaver including processing of contributions, reporting, calculation of unit prices and member services.

As at the date of this document, each year with effect from 1 January, Mercer adjusts these fees (and the first-home and significant financial hardship fees and the fee for a retained member to set up a regular withdrawal) by the annual increase (if any, measured at the end of September in the prior year) in national full-time adult average weekly ordinary-time earnings (or any replacement statistic).

An annual administration charge of $52.32 per retained member is deducted monthly ($4.36 per month) from each retained member's member standard account.

In addition, the individual action fees listed in the table above are charged for each relevant transaction.

GST is not charged on these administration fees.

The amount of the fees could be changed by agreement between us and Mercer.

Mercer is also entitled to be reimbursed out of UniSaver for expenses incurred in connection with its services to UniSaver and to us and the directors. Expenses incurred by Mercer could include, but are not limited to, meeting expenses, travel costs and training and conference expenses paid on our behalf. Mercer may also charge for additional attendances outside those covered by its standard fees as set out above.

Investment management fees

Russell Investments charges fees for acting as UniSaver's investment consultant and investment manager.

Russell Investments is also entitled to be reimbursed by UniSaver for expenses incurred in acting as UniSaver's investment consultant and investment manager.

The amount of the fees payable and the ability to recover expenses can be varied by written agreement between us and Russell Investments.

In addition to investments in funds made available by Russell Investments, UniSaver also obtains exposure to underlying investments through ANZ New Zealand Investments Limited and Implemented Investment Solutions. Fees are also charged by these managers in respect of the underlying funds in which the investments are made.

Some of the underlying funds that the scheme invests in are domiciled overseas. These overseas-domiciled funds have been selected as they offer access to a wider range of investments, which increases the opportunity for enhanced risk-adjusted returns. However, the scheme is unable to claim some tax credits that may be available if these funds were domiciled in New Zealand. Russell Investments is currently considering onshoring certain overseas-domiciled funds in response.

Secretarial fees

Mercer charges monthly fees for providing secretarial services to us. Mercer is also entitled to be reimbursed out of UniSaver for expenses incurred in connection with its services to us and to UniSaver. Mercer's fees are indexed annually on 1 January (commencing 1 January 2023) by the annual increase (if any, measured at the end of September in the prior calendar year) in the New Zealand average weekly earnings for FTEs (total ordinary time) as published by Stats NZ.

Communications consultant

Metzger Communications Limited (Metzger Communications) charges professional fees for its role as communications consultant. Metzger Communications may also pass on any expenses it incurs in providing its services. The fees charged may be varied by agreement between us and Metzger Communications.

Costs and expenses

Other costs and expenses may be payable in respect of services provided to us from time to time, such as professional advice in relation to insurance, tax, accounting, actuarial and legal matters, and member communications are paid out of UniSaver. The level of these fees may change from time to time, and because these fees depend on the services requested, they are unknown as at the date of this document. However, the total fees incurred by UniSaver each year are shown in UniSaver's financial statements for that year.

All of the above fees and reimbursements are limited to the assets for the time being of UniSaver. Otherwise, there is no limit to the other fees that may be incurred with our agreement.

Basis of estimates for the annual fund charges in the PDS

The estimates of the annual fund charges for each investment option are calculated as the sum of the applicable investment management fees and the remaining fees, costs and expenses of UniSaver. The investment management fees are the average of the individual sector investment management fees weighted by the target asset allocation. The remaining fees, costs and expenses are calculated by reference to the latest audited annual financial statements of UniSaver and our estimate of the charges that will be incurred by us in running the scheme and are expressed as a percentage of the total net assets of UniSaver. The annual fund charges are gross as they do not make any allowance for potential tax relief that may be available.

Other charges

As described in the PDS, an annual administration charge of $52.32 applies to retained members.

SECTION 6

Tax

This section provides additional information about how tax will impact on your investment in UniSaver and forms part of the PDS for UniSaver dated 30 June 2021.

It is based on our understanding of New Zealand tax legislation as it applies to UniSaver. Tax legislation, its interpretation and the rates and bases of taxation are subject to change. The application of tax laws depends on a member's individual circumstances. Members are advised to seek their own tax advice from a qualified tax adviser.

What taxes will you pay?

Employer contributions

Employer contributions are subject to employer superannuation contribution tax (ESCT) at the following rates:

* 'Income' is a member's gross salary and wages plus employer superannuation contributions, before the deduction of ESCT, in the previous year

Member's income* in the previous income year	Member's ESCT rate
Up to $16,800	10.5%
Between $16,801 and $57,600	17.5%
Between $57,601 and $84,000	30%
Between $84,001 and $216,000	33%
$216,000 and over	39%

(or an estimated amount if the member has worked for less than a year).

ESCT is deducted from employer contributions before they are paid to UniSaver. Member contributions are calculated on a member's before-tax salary but deducted from the member's after-tax salary.

Member contributions

A member's own contributions to UniSaver are not tax deductible. However, withdrawals are tax-free.

Tax on UniSaver's investments

UniSaver is not a portfolio investment entity (PIE). This means that UniSaver pays tax on its net investment income at a flat rate of 28%. UniSaver invests in PIE funds in New Zealand and other foreign funds. Gains or losses made by these PIEs from their investments in New Zealand-resident companies and most Australian-resident listed companies are not taxable or deductible. However, distributions received from these companies are taxable.

Other foreign funds held by UniSaver directly or by PIEs that UniSaver invests in are generally taxed under the fair dividend rate (FDR) method of 5% per annum, on a proportionate basis with reference to the opening daily market value. Distributions received from investments taxed under this method are not taxable, although foreign tax credits may be available to offset the tax payable on the FDR income. Foreign currency hedges of shares subject to FDR may also be taxed using a version of FDR where the hedges are held by the PIE (rather than under the financial arrangement rules).

Foreign funds in which UniSaver invests that have underlying exposure to debt-like securities (in particular, if they are 80% or more hedged to $NZ) are generally taxed under the comparative value method (that is, on the basis of the annual change in market value plus distributions and any disposal gains).

Debt securities held by UniSaver directly and by PIEs in which it invests are taxed under the financial arrangement rules, which generally reflect the income recognised for financial reporting. Hedging undertaken by UniSaver over its foreign funds may also be taxed under the financial arrangement rules.

PIE tax advantages for UniSaver

Investing in PIEs can provide tax advantages for UniSaver relative to direct investment. That is, capital gains made by those PIEs on most investments in New Zealand shares and most Australian-listed shares are not taxable irrespective of the level of trading undertaken.

Broadly, investing in PIEs is expected to defer the payment of the related tax relative to when UniSaver would make equivalent payments if the scheme held the underlying securities directly.

Changes to tax laws

The tax position set out in this document may change if tax laws change, and the taxation of returns could change if UniSaver elects to become a PIE in future.
